WOMAN'S WORLD

MISS LOUISE HOWENSTEIN.

Miss Louise Howenstein is one of the staff of clever women artists employed by the United States government. Miss Howenstein's work is that of making fine drawings for scientific purposes, and she is engaged in the entomological division of the department of agriculture. Her enlarged pen and ink and fine brush sketches of moth and butterfly, beetle and worm, are nothing short of exquisite in their handling of the delicate feathery wing, the slender antennae and the tiny head parts.

Miss Howenstein deserves especial credit for the excellence of her work, since she has accomplished it purely through her own hard work and perseverance. She has never had any teaching at all beyond some guidance given her by her aunt, to whose position in the division she has recently succeeded, and the fact that she is a very young woman indeed gives added interest to her laurels.

After the death, some two years ago, of Miss Howenstein's aunt she was appointed to the position, which she has filled with increasing success. Not only is she busily at work making these delicate drawings of the insects, but is also experimenting in mounting them, for her own satisfaction, and is incidentally gaining much scientific information about both the injurious and beneficial specimens.—Washington Post.

A Woman's Plea For Pockets.

Today petticoat pockets or safety suspended pockets or, in fact, pockets at all, would spoil our entire scheme of decoration; therefore we women are reduced to the handbag. The handbag, whether of gold studded with precious gems or of imitation leather, with a turquoise blue glass clasp, is the most conveniently lost, stolen, opened-by-thieves-in-the-street, left-on-a-counter, dropped-in-the-theater or slipped-behind-one-in-church and altogether-detached-from-its-owner contrivance ever invented. Is this to continue? Can no one among our own sex arise, solve the problem and gain the gratitude of millions? Or must we struggle on, pocketless and forlorn, until some smart young man wins undying fame with a porous plaster purse, warranted never to leave the owner, or, if torn asunder by the madding crowd, ready to know its own particular lady and walk up and slip its hand into hers, just like the little child she would not be bothered bringing along?—Leslie's Weekly.

Candy For Children.

This is a delicious candy for children. It can be made with brown, lump or granulated sugar. When made with brown it becomes very hard; with lump sugar it is crisp, and with granulated sugar slightly sticky. The method is the same whichever sugar is used, and it can be flavored to suit the tastes of those who are going to eat it. Lemon juice, vanilla and peppermint extract can all be used to flavor it.

For brown or granulated sugar take a breakfast cup full of sugar and the same quantity of milk. Put the milk and the sugar in an enameled pan, bring to the boil and boil for twenty minutes, when the candy should set. Pour it into a greased tin, and score it well with the point of a knife before it is cold or it will not break into nice neat pieces.

When using lump sugar use half a cup of milk to a pound of sugar and treat exactly as above described. The flavoring should be added just before the candy is poured into the tin.

A Hint to Dressmakers.

One of the most important things for all home dressmakers to remember is the cutting of the armhole and the adjusting of the sleeve material around it. Always keep the armhole as small as is consistent with comfort.

It is nice to put the sleeve into an unlined armhole, as in cotton waists, with a small cording. The fullness of material should be kept "high"—that is, it should fall as much as possible in a straight line down from the center of the top of the sleeve. At each side of the gathering across the top of the sleeve try to fit your sleeve into the armhole with as little fullness as possible. If fullness will come, take it out by using a small V shaped dart, which, if properly pressed, will not show. All fullness should be kept to the center of the arm—at the elbow, too, as well as at the top.—Ladies' Home Journal.

THE STAFF OF LIFE.

Bread Properly Made Is Our Best Staple Article of Diet.

The enormous waste of bread that takes place daily plainly shows in what contempt this article of diet is held by the community. It is flung into garbage boxes by the rich and on to the pavements by the poor. It has, in fact, little or no place on the tables of the well to do.

Bread, made under proper conditions from the proper elements, is our best staple article of diet. By "staple" is meant a chief constituent of the food fuel that our bodies, whether young or old, must take in to supply their needful growth and energy and to repair the waste which is going on hourly.

Good bread contains all the food elements in digestible form. There is nitrogenous matter, which is considered the chief of them all and for the supply of which we are in the habit of looking to meat, but some of which, not all, we can certainly derive from bread. Then it would be difficult to say how far we depend on bread for our supply of phosphates, matters of no little moment, especially in connection with bone and muscle formation. This supply of phosphates is especially important in the case of growing children, and as the waste of phosphates is continuous the supply must be persistent. Last, but by no means least, we have the carbonaceous principle of bread. It is to such bodies we must look for our physical energy, for there is evidence to show that they are oxidized in the muscle to supply the necessary force for the contraction of that muscle.

SHIRT WAIST TRAY.

Almost every woman owns one of the chintz covered boxes commonly called window seat boxes and which are invaluable in a small apartment for holding silk skirts, shirt waists or hats, but very few of them are fitted with trays, which greatly increase their convenience.

If you are at all handy, however, a very little time and work will settle the matter. Take a strong pasteboard box and line and cover it with silesia, chintz or anything that is convenient and looks well with the lining of the other box. Do not use cheesecloth, things stick to it.

Any household can probably supply the necessary pasteboard box, as the kind suits, dresses or cloaks are sent home in will be just the right size and strength. Two small cleats of wood may be tacked inside the large wooden box, one at each end, at the desired height, and then the pasteboard box set in on them just as a tray is set into a trunk, or, if you do not care to bother with the cleats, screw two small brass hooks into the sides of the wooden box at equal height and sew loops of ribbon or tape to your pasteboard box and hang the tray in.

By means of this tray you cannot only keep more things in your box, but they can be kept in better condition, and your shirt waists need not be turned upside down quite so often.

TO KEEP YOUR MAID.

Never reprimand her before children or strangers.

Do not expect her to be a mind reader, but tell her just what you want done.

Give her as pleasant a room as possible and let her have time to keep it in order.

A command given in an abrupt, disagreeable tone will often make her angry and unhappy.

If she is cross or irritable, be patient with her. She may be suffering acutely, mentally or physically.

Give your maid as good wages as you can; pay her regularly or give her reasons why she should wait.

For Bleaching the Hands.

A good paste for improving and whitening the hands is made by blanching half a pound of bitter almonds and beating them to a smooth paste with a gill of rose water. Add gradually half a pound of clear, strained honey. When thoroughly mixed, pack into small jars, pouring on the top of each a little rose water. Keep closely covered.

Another salve for softening the hands is made by taking a quarter of a pound of castile soap and shaving it in thin slices. Put this in an earthenware or porcelain lined pan, with just enough water to moisten it. Let it simmer slowly until dissolved and then stir until perfectly smooth, thickening it with Indian meal. Take from the fire and beat hard with a silver spoon, adding a little orange or rose water when cool. When thoroughly mixed, pack into small covered jars.

A Broken Cup.

Having the misfortune to break the handle from an expensive and exceptionally pretty cup, I learned from a china painter how I could grind the two stubs of the handle off with emery cloth and convert the fragment into a charming little bowl, which I now use for a great many things. The emery cloth, which costs a few cents a sheet, is placed flat on a table, and the surface to be ground down is rubbed over it with considerable force. The finishing touches are given with a stick covered with emery cloth, and the china painter always adds a bit of gold paint or other decoration.—Good Housekeeping.

GIANTS OF THE PAST

Lizards Three Times the Size of the Largest Elephant and a Turtle Whose Shell Looked Like a Hut, The Remarkable Plated Lizard.

The belief in a race of giants was once almost universal. Even today large skeletons when found are sometimes reported as being those of giant human beings. This was especially true of the period abut the tenth and eleventh centuries, and in the latter a most amazing discovery was reported, which threw the scientific world of the time into great excitement. It was said that the body of Pallas, the son of Evander, had been discovered beneath the tomb of the Emperor Henry III. The bones were enormous and proved to have belonged to a huge fossil elephant. As late as the fifteenth century war of words was waged over a find of large bones, one party claiming that they belonged to the giant Teutobochus. In 1857 a giant was discovered in Switzerland. The council of Lucerne requested a learned scientific man, Professor Felix Plater of Basel, to report upon it, and he not only announced the bones as part of a human giant, but made a complete restoration, showing the man twenty feet high, which the proud city adopted as an ancestor in the arms of the commonwealth. Unfortunately for the theory and much to the discomfiture of the people who had raised to a high pinnacle this mighty ancestor, it was found to be the remains of an elephant.

Nearly all the mastodon finds were attributed to giants, but there is no evidence that a human giant ever existed over eight feet in height, and it is extremely doubtful if this height was ever attained.

Giants other than human are very common in all branches of the animal kingdom—giants in every sense when compared to their pygmy representatives of today. Some years ago some laborers in the Sewalik hills of India were engaged upon a government work when they came upon the remains of a turtle that proved beyond question that these animals had their giants in the days of old. The shell which the men exposed might have been used as a shelter for several men, and at first, before its bony nature was observed, it was thought by the natives to be a hut of some kind. Fortunately the bones were uninjured, and they were taken out and removed to the British museum, where a complete restoration of the animal may be seen. The length of the turtle was ten feet, its horizontal circumference twenty-five feet and its girth fifteen feet, but it was estimated by scientists that this was not an adult and that when fully grown this huge creature would display a dome-like back eight or nine feet high, giving a total length of twenty feet.

One of the common animals in equatorial South America and in Central America is the lizard iguana, which attains a length of four or five feet and is considered rather large, but it was a pygmy when compared to an ancestor that once wandered over England and various portions of the world. A number of years ago some workingmen were excavating and blasting in a quarry near Maidstone, England, when some bones were uncovered that caused profound astonishment on the part of the finders. The skeleton was perfect, and as it was lifted out, bone by bone, their amazement increased, and the news was spread all over the country, attracting large numbers of people. When the bones were placed in their proper position they were found to be the skeleton of a gigantic lizard that when alive must have been three times as bulky as the largest living elephant and stood upon its hind legs like a kangaroo, tearing down branches from the highest trees. Such an animal was a slow mover and sluggish and must have fallen an easy prey to the human hunters, if they existed.

The marine giants were even more native and remarkable than the land forms. If we can imagine the little iguana lengthened out to thirty feet, its back spines changed to broad finlike objects, we form some idea of the appearance of one of the small dinosaurs, Stegosaurus ungulatus, one of the most uncanny and remarkable creatures ever found. It is called the plated lizard, and the best skeleton was found on the eastern flank of the Rocky mountains. Some of the plates with which this armored lizard were protected were two or three feet in diameter and the spines over two feet in length. From the fact that the hind limbs were the largest it is evident that this strange creature could lift itself up and sit like a kangaroo, resting upon its powerful tail, which, with its enormous spines, must have been a terrible weapon.

A giant from America had a skull that measured eight feet in length. Almost over the eyes were two large horns, a third placed over the nose. The great length of the skull was given by a huge crest that was protected by a ridge of long plates. The mouth of the tricaratops was protected by a horny beak. In life it must have presented a formidable appearance, with a body clumsy and low like that of a hippopotamus, a long tail like an alligator's, its head calling to mind the rhinoceros. This monster was twenty-five feet in length and must have been one of the strangest animals of its time.—London Spectator.

NEWS NOTES

Of course, looking at it from another point of view. it is not the primary object of the organizers of the fire insurance companies to lose money.

Zion City is about to be moved from Illinois to Colorado. The new location will be about a mile higher than the old one, and is, of course, a step in the right direction.

The czar wants the people to stand by him, but he does'nt want them to stand too close.

We might have lighter loads on our backs if we had less starch in our necks.

Sixty-five earthquakes were felt this week in Michigan. The people were greatly alarmed. It has been noticed also of late that the level of Lake Erie is sinking unusually fast.

A number of union brick layers in Santa Rosa, who were getting $6 per day of eight hours, quit work because the contractors would not pay them $8 per day, hut's all.

The adjustment of the fire losses sustained by the California Wine Association has been made. The amount is said to be in excess of one million dollars and is carried by about seventy-five companies.

The Legislature will be unable to meet in the State Capital on account of the extensive changes and repairs now going on in that building. Some other place must be chosen, and although no definite decision has been made it is believed that the new Elks Hall will be used.

A cloudburst at Galconda, Nevada, two hundred miles east of Reno, practically destroyed that town. Heavy freshets caused a big dam to burst. the water sweeping everything in its path in the town. Five persons were killed.

MISS FRASER RESIGNS

Miss Maud Fraser, of the High School faculty, has resigned her position and will take a much needed rest. Her successor is yet to be chosen.

Miss Fraser is a graduate of the State University and has gained an enviable reputation as a high school instructor. The scholars, teachers and trustees, are very loath to part with her, as she has endeared herself to all with whom she has come in contact.

We are pleased to know that Miss Fraser, her mother, and sister, Miss Eva, will remain in Sonoma where they have a host of friends.

Bocca Bros.

One of the most pleasant and convinent sum mer resorts in Sonoma Valley is the Vill resort of Bocca Bros. The furnishings and buildings are all new and modern and everything i. conducted in first class style. On Saturday and Sundays ice cream, cake, etc. will be served at all hours. Read their new ad in another column.

Engagement Announced

The engagement of Miss Linda Martin. youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Martin, the well known Marin Co. capitalist, to Florenzio Moretti of San Diego, is announced. The marriage will take place in Switzerland some time in the fall.

Forced to Pay Board

N. Bertoni was arrested Monday by Constable Boswell at Glen Ellen on a charge of having forgotten to pay his board bill. He stopped at Guidotti Hotel there. and when he departed owed something like $85. Americo Guidotti swore to the complaint on which Bertoni was arrested, and Mine Host Farnocchi of the Toscano hotel at Glen Ellen arranged to pay the bill for him.

$10,000 Damage Suit

The papers are ready and as soon as court opens, Prof. W. C. Nolan, Principal of the Sonoma Grammar School, through his attorneys, will file a suit against Dr. Byron for $10,000 damages for slander.

Mr Nolan received notice last week of the filing of the so-called charges before the State Board of Education and was asked by State Supt. Thos. J. Kirk, ex-officio secretary of the Board, if he would waive the 30 days notica for hearing. Mr. Nolan, being eager for an official investigation auswered by return mail, waiving the 30 days notice and urging an early hearing of the case.

It is believed that the hearing will take place in Oakland or Berkeley on June 7th or 8th. It is also intimated that criminal charges will also be preferred against Byron.

Had it not been for the eaathquake, the case would have been in the courts ere this.

Polo Ponies Arrive

J. E. Moore, the well-known trainer for the Spreckels' stable, arrived Friday night on the steamer Gold with thirteen polo ponies, belonging to Mr. Spreckels, which he brought up from Burlingame, where they were on exhibition at the horse show. A full retinue of stable boys and riders accompanied the outfit, and Foreman Waugh of the ranch met them with the baggage wagon.

GOING EAST

Mrs. Wm. Kerner and daughter expect to leave Sonoma on June 12 next for a visit of several months with her parents in Mt. Clemens, Michigan. Mr. Kerner expects to join her there some time next March and together they will spend a few months taking in the sights of the East. Their many friends wish them bon voyage and a safe return.

WEAVERS PATENT PUMP

Inventor A. W. Weaver of El Verano has on Exhibition at his shop at that place one his new patent pumps and it works like a charm. The stock holders in the company are delighted with the wonderful machine and a large number of people call every day to see the new machine work.

The fact that Weavers pump is the best that has ever been invented in becoming better known and acknowledged every day by expert and combetant machinists.

NATIVES ATTENTION !

In lieu of the meetng of the Parlor next Monday evening, it is the intention of the Native Sons to visit Napa Parlor on that evening.

Sonoma Parlor has been invited to witness the initiation of a class of 84 candidates in that city on next Monday evening. All members of of the Sonoma Parlor who desire to go, please notify Sec'y L. H. Green of their intentions by next Sunday noon.

A grand banquet and prominent speakers will be features of the Napa meeting

A large number of the local natives has signified their intention to accept the invitation of the Napa brethren.

The Fourth in Glen Ellen

The Ladies Improvement Glun Ellen, will celebrate the Fonrth in great style. Elaborate plans are being made to have the finest celebraton ever given in that lively little town. No fire crackers or fire works of any kind will be allowed. And after all, the useless and senseless idea that noise and fire show patriotism is fast fading away. Thank God for that. Thousands of lives and millions of property is the record of the use of fire works on Independence Day.

About the only good use we know for fire crackers is to scare the devil away from "the heathen chinee." If there is any chance of that, let the chink have the chauce, he certain'y needs it bad enough.

Delightful Birthday Party

Miss Myrtle Minkel was the hostess at a delightful birthday party on Wednesday afternoon at the residence of her parents in El Verano. A number of invited guests were precent who fully entered into the spirit of the occasion. Many pleasant games were played and a pleasant hour of conversation followed.

The gnests were invited into the dining-room, where a beautifully decorated table greeted their sight. The ususl birthday cake was in a prominent place and as part of its decoration held thirteen candles, dainty refreshments were served. The hostess was the ricipient of a number of dainty gifts and the guests were unanimous in bestowing many birthday wishes. Miss Myrtle was ably assisted by her mother, Mrs. W. J. Minkle.

Mrs. Hotz Entertains

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hotz delightfully entertained the whist club at their Broadway home last Friday evening. Whist was the feature of the evening's pleasure.

Mrs. Dorman and Dr. Nichols won first prizes, Miss Doris Clewe and Wm. Clewe, the two consolation prizes, the latter receiving a foot ball for his, whereupon he remarked "Well now, I think I've got a kick acoming."

Delicious refreshments were then served.

There will also be vocal and instrumental numbers on the program, besides some pretty drills by the younger pupils.

An enjoyable evening is promised to all who attend. Refreshments will be served. An admission will be charged and the proceeds will help the Sisters to repair the injuries done to the class rooms by the earthquake of April 18th.

A Fine Program

Prof. Avedano and his pupils delighted their hearers, each and every number being repeatedly and heartily encored. About $100 was realized from the sale of tickets and turned over to the Sonoma Relief Committee for relieving the unfortunate.

Acting upon the widespread and urgent requests of many people, the Professor will probably give another concert here in about a month.

Prof. Avedano and family lost all their possessions in the recent destruction of San Francisco and naturally would like to earn a little money for a new start.

The Petaluma Courier has this to say:

Prof. Ferdinando Avedano, the well known tenor of the Tivoli Opera House, Saturday gave a concert in Sonoma for the benefit of the Sonoma relief committee. Signor Avedano's sirter and daughter, as well as several well known amateurs and pupils of the celebrated tenor, had prominent parts in concert, which was a complete artistic as well a financial success and contributed a goodly sum to Sonoma relief fund.

We are informed that Signor Avedano, in connection with the editor of the Daily L'Italia, will endeavor to arrange a similar entertainment in Petaluma, with and for the benefit of the Petaluma relief committee.

"O woman! lovely woman! nature made thee to temper man; we had been brutes without you." Woman more than merits all the good things that have been said of her by the wits and poets of all times. When man lauds woman and her charms and virtues, he has in his mind's eye an ideal. That ideal is always a healthy woman. No man makes pretty speeches and witty toasts about woman, with the picture in his mind of a weak, sickly, nervous woman, tortured by pain, and suffering from depression and despondency. It is in the power of every woman to be some man's ideal if she will but build up and guard her womanly health.

The best of known remedies for all forms of disease peculiar to women is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It works directly on but one set of organs in a woman's body. It allays and eradicates pain. It soothes inflammation. It invigorates and purifies. It restores complete health to the organs distinctly feminine and banishes weakness, depression and despondency. It is the discovery of Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalid's Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. If you wish to know more about it write to him.

"As your 'Favorite Prescription' has done so much for me, I am pleased to tell you my experience," writes Mrs. Belle Griffith, of Cherokee, Ky. "I had been troubled with indigestion, female troubles and urinary trouble for three years, also neuralgia and a dizzy headache; after taking eight bottles of Dr. Pierce's medicines I was greatly improved in health. Can sew on machine now, something I had not done in three years, and can eat almost anything I wish. Am pleased to recommend Dr. Pierce's medicine to any of my friends. I feel that you have a wonderful remedy."

"For fifteen years I suffered each month with severe pains, and this suffering increased until my general health became so poor I could hardly get around," writes Mrs. M. J. Jones, of Buncom, Oregon. "My husband wished me to write to Dr. Pierce, which I did, and he advised his 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pleasant Pellets.' When I commenced taking these medicines could hardly stand on my feet, and to sit down was even worse than standing. Before I had taken one bottle of the 'Favorite Prescription' I began to feel better, and since taking ten bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and three vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets I feel stronger than I have for years. I believe that all women suffering as I did can be cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

DR. PIERCE'S PLEASANT PELLETS

Cure biliousness, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, costiveness, or constipation of the bowels, loss of appetite, coated tongue, sour stomach, windy belchings, "heart-burn," pain and distress after eating, and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels.

Persons subject to any of these troubles should never be without a vial of the "Pleasant Pellets" at hand. They are always adopted as a household remedy after the first trial. Put up in glass vials, tightly corked, therefore always fresh and reliable.

One little "Pellet" is a laxative, two are cathartic. They regulate, invigorate and cleanse the liver, stomach and bowels. As a "dinner pill," to promote digestion, take one each day. To relieve the distress arising from overeating, nothing equals one of these little "Pellets." They're tiny, sugar-coated, anti-bilious granules, scarcely larger than mustard seeds.

$8.50 PUNCTURE-PROOF TIRES ONLY $4.80 PER PAIR

Regular Price $8.50 per pair. To Introduce We Will Sell You a Sample Pair for Only $4.80 (CASH WITH ORDER $4.55)

NAILS, TACKS OR GLASS WON'T LET OUT THE AIR

NO MORE TROUBLE FROM PUNCTURES.

Result of 15 years experience in tire making. No danger from THORNS, CACTUS, PINS, NAILS, TACKS or GLASS. Serious punctures, like intentional knife cuts, can be vulcanized like any other tire.

Notice the thick rubber tread "A" and puncture strips "B" and "D," also rim strip "H" to prevent rim cutting. This tire will outlast any other make—SOFT, ELASTIC and EASY RIDING.

DESCRIPTION: Made in all sizes. It is lively and easy riding, very durable and lined inside with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous and which closes up small punctures without allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have only been pumped up once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of thin, specially prepared fabric on the tread. That "Holding Back" sensation commonly felt when riding on asphalt or soft roads is overcome by the patent "Basket Weave" tread which prevents all air from being squeezed out between the tire and the road thus overcoming all suction. The regular price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but for advertising purposes we are making a special factory price to the rider of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C.O.D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented.

We will allow a cash discount of 5 per cent (thereby making the price $4.55 per pair) if you send FULL CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement. We will also send one nickel plated brass hand pump and two Sampson metal puncture closers on full paid orders (these metal puncture closers to be used in case of intentional knife cuts or heavy gashes). Tires to be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination.

We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us is as safe as in a bank. Ask your Postmaster, Banker, Express or Freight Agent or the Editor of this paper about us. If you order a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, wear better, last longer and look finer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any price. We know that you will be so well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We want you to send us a small trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer.

COASTER-BRAKES, built-up-wheels, saddles, pedals, parts and repairs, and everything in the bicycle line are sold by us at half the usual prices charged by dealers and repair men. Write for our big SUNDRY catalogue.

DO NOT WAIT but write us a postal today. DO NOT THINK OF BUYING a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone until you know the new and wonderful offers we are making. It only costs a postal to learn everything. Write it NOW.

Middle Ages Perfumers.

The great perfumers of the middle ages were, it appears, the Arabs. The fashion of using perfumery came into west Europe through the crusades. Italians were the great dealers in it and often sold disguised subtle poisons in their perfumes. Catherine de' Medici, like many of her ancestors, gained her private and public ends through poisonous perfumes. Cardinal Richelieu first saw what a business could be created by distilling the field and orange grove flowers of Provence. Anne of Austria, the wife of Louis XIII., could not go a moment without her scent bottle and liked to have her linen scented. Voltaire spoke of the perfumed bath as the luxury of luxuries. The sunny hills of the Var became a mine of wealth and remain so to this day, for the scent distilled from flowers has a subtle delicacy which still gives it the primacy. The Empress Josephine gave another great stimulus to the scent industry. She constantly held before her mouth dainty lace bordered lawn pocket handkerchiefs, on which she had sprinkled some delicious perfume.—London News.

Bismarck and the Ambassador.

One day the Austrian ambassador to the federal diet, Count Rechberg, received a dispatch instructing him to vote with Prussia for a certain important measure, accompanied with a confidential letter directing him to induce the representatives of the other German states to vote against the measure and thus defeat it. In his haste he handed the wrong paper to Bismarck, who read and returned it, with the remark:

"There must be some mistake here." Rechberg saw his blunder and grew pale and excited. "Don't be disturbed," said Bismarck. "You did not intend to give me this document, and therefore you have not given it to me, and I am wholly ignorant of its contents." In fact, he made no mention of it in his official reports and thus won Rechberg's gratitude, besides having him henceforth "on the hip."

Minerals In Food.

Minerals in our food form an important ingredient as regards our nutrition. They seem to assist the digestion of our foods and are needed to complete the composition of many fluids of the body. Thus the salt in tears is poetic and proverbial both, and salt is also necessary for the perfection of the gastric juice of the stomach. The phosphate of lime (in which oatmeal, by the way, is rich) is needed for building bones, and there is not a fluid of the body, from the blood to the saliva, for which certain minerals are not necessary. Too much mineral matter, taken, for example, in overhard water, is injurious. Therefore all hard water should be softened before use. Such water produces constipation and dyspepsia and is apt to cause kidney troubles.

Rossetti's Use For an Elephant.

Gabriel Rossetti had a penchant for wild animals. He was with difficulty prevented at one time from purchasing for a very large sum a young elephant. Browning said to him, "What on earth will you do with him, Gabriel?" and Rossetti replied: "I mean to teach him to clean the windows. Then when some one passes by the house he will see the elephant cleaning the windows and will say, 'Who lives in that house?' and people will tell him, 'Oh, that's a painter called Rossetti,' and he will say, 'I think I should like to buy one of that man's pictures.' So he will ring to come in, and I shall sell him a picture."

Useless Expense.

An old couple fell ill of old age together. The husband died, but the wife had more vitality. On the day following her husband's death she was better, and the doctor was congratulating himself on the success of his treatment. But the woman's point of view was different. She complained bitterly, for, as she forcibly pointed out, "If we'd let me alone one funeral 'ud a done for us two, an' look what it'll cost now berrying two of us separately!"

A Prolific Writer.

While I was writing "Gladys Fane" I was doing my full work for the Leeds Mercury and was not only editing the paper, but was writing for it an average of twelve columns a week. "Gladys Fane" is a long story, containing 100,000 words. I wrote it during my scanty leisure in exactly sixteen weeks, or at the rate of 10,000 words a week.—Autobiography of Sir Wemyss Reid.

Door Keys In Sweden.

A door key hung outside a house in Sweden is a sign the family are not at home. The custom is more courteous to callers than the American practice of allowing the visitor to "find out by ascertaining" through futile bell ringing or button punching, but it requires a greater confidence in your fellow man justifiable perhaps in Sweden.

Sympathy.

It may indeed be said that sympathy exists in all minds, as Faraday has discovered that magnetism exists in all metals, but a certain temperature is required to develop the hidden property, whether in the metal or the mind.—Bulwer.

A Mean Question.

Wedderly—Today is the tenth anniversary of my marriage. Singleton—Well, what do you expect? Wedderly—Which do I expect? Singleton—Yes, congratulations or sympathy?

Rough on the Men.

Mrs. Hoyle—I believe that my husband is leading a double life. Mrs. Doyle—You ought to be satisfied these days if he isn't leading a triple life.

Flying kites may be brought back by pulling in the string, but flying words have no strings to them.

Breaking the Trail.

Winter in the mountains is severe in its restrictions. Sledging and travel over the snow banked trails are limited to bare necessity. In the colder seasons the trails are kept open by shoveling and packing them down. When the runners sing intermittently in high, thin voices, the teamster, with a belt tight around his overcoat and flopping his arms to keep warm, faces his greatest hardships, but when the heavy snows and rapid thaws of spring come foaming means a battle and a venture with a sudden termination hanging just above. Thousands of tons of snow up the mountain sides hang on a trigger that can be sprung by the sigh of a breeze or the rolling of a pine cone, and in summer many a barren slope and pile of rock and timber at the bottom tells a skeleton tale of the winter's night. Floundering, wearing and persevering open the trail—a little ruffed thread of white from up above, but a hard day's work for a man.—Outing Magazine.

Childless Men and Women.

There are parts of the world where girl babies are drowned like superfluous kittens and others in which it is not uncommon for the daughters in the large families of the poor to be sold by their parents into lives of prostitution. On the other hand, the pages of history are filled with examples of the devoted lives of childless men and women who have worked unselfishly for the good of their kind. Bachelors and virgins have been the saints of the world, and the childless are the philanthropists, the founders of colleges, hospitals, art collections and libraries, the philosophers, the great writers, leaders, and thinkers of the race. Plato, Joan of Arc, Savonarola, George Washington, David Hume, Locke, Spinoza, Thomas Carlyle, Florence Nightingale, Ruskin and Herbert Spencer are only a few of the great names in this class. An interesting volume could be written on the indebtedness of the world to childless men and women.—New York Medical Journal.

How Some Mutes Marry.

Statistics compiled by authorities on the condition of the deaf and dumb in this country present one significant fact in regard to the matrimonial affairs of that body of citizens. It is revealed therein that while many women deprived of the power of speech have been sought in marriage by men whose five senses were unimpaired only a few women whose tongues were in good working order have consented to tie themselves to men who could not hear what was being said. Cynics find in these revelations matter for many caustic diatribes pertaining to the conversational and listening powers of the sexes. Whether or not these sarcastic observations contain an explanation of the comparative willingness and unwillingness of men and women to marry mutes is a question, but the fact remains.

A Powerful Drug.

Cloves are simply the dried flower buds of a beautiful evergreen tree growing naturally on the Spice islands. These flower buds are gathered when they have become of a bright red and are just on the point of opening. The name comes from the resemblance of the prepared spice to small nails, from the French word clou, for nail. Cloves are very heavily charged with a pungent, acrid, volatile oil, as much as 20 per cent sometimes being extracted. This oil is valuable for flavoring and scenting purposes and has a limited field in medicine, but the habit of "eating cloves," in which young folks and too often old ones indulge, is very reprehensible, as the oil is a powerful drug, becoming in many cases an insidious poison.

A Bungler.

Very few persons acquit themselves nobly in their maiden speech. At a wedding feast recently the bridegroom was called upon, as usual, to respond to the given toast, in spite of the fact that he had previously pleaded to be excused. Blushing to the roots of his hair, he rose to his feet. He intended to imply that he was unprepared for speech making, but, unfortunately, placed his hand upon the bride's shoulder and looked down at her as he stammered out his opening (and concluding) words:

"This—er—thing has been thrust upon me."—London Tit-Bits.

Oddities of Sight.

The two eyes really see two objects. If the two forefingers be held, one at the distance of one foot, the other two feet in front of the eyes and the former be looked at, two phantoms of the latter will be observed, one on each side. If the latter be regarded two phantoms of the nearer finger will be observed mounting guard, one on each side.

Good and Evil.

Accustom yourself to submit on every occasion to a small present evil to obtain a greater distant good. This will give decision, tone and energy to the mind, which thus disciplined will often reap victory from defeat and honor from repulse.—Colton.

Gallant.

"That pea will never come to perfection," remarked a young woman walking through a garden with Sydney Smith.

"Then let me lead perfection to the pea," said he gallantly offering her his arm.

A Difficult Labor.

Labor to keep alive in your breast that little spark of celestial fire called conscience.—George Washington.

If at first you don't succeed, do it over, but don't overdo it.—Philadelphia Record.

A foolish person builds foolishly, and a wise one sensibly, a virtuous one beautifully and a vicious one badly. If stonework is well put together it means that a thoughtful man cut it and an honest man cemented it. If it has too much ornament it means that its carver was too greedy of pleasure, if too little that he was rude or insensitive or stupid or the like. A man may hide himself from you or misrepresent himself to you every other way, but he cannot in his work. There be sure you have him to the utmost, all that he likes, all that he sees, all that he can do—his imagination, his affection, his perserverance, his impatience, clumsiness, cleverness, everything is there. If the work is a cobweb you know it was made by a spider, if a honeycomb by a bee, a wormcast is thrown up by a worm and a nest wreathed by a bird, and a house is built by a man worthily if he is worthy and ignobly if he is ignoble. And always, from the least to the greatest as a thing made is good or bad so is the maker of it.

Animals' Play Is Exercise.

The relaxed rhythmical movements so common among animals at play, the gamboling of lambs, the play of kittens and many similar animal activities, are imitated by man in the primitive dances which form so large a part in the social and religious life of all aboriginal peoples. These motions of leaping, swinging, swaying and twisting of the body have all of them a most intimate and powerful influence upon the body's activities, organic and muscular. Rolling is a form of exercise which is a favorite with many animals and is especially practiced for the purpose of relieving fatigue. Rolling is peculiarly enjoyable and grateful to the animal because it provides not only relief for the tensed muscles, the depleted organs and the slow moving circulation, but because as the animal rolls the firm pressure of the ground upon his body constitutes a most effective and agreeable massage.

Hearses After Night.

There is one kind of vehicle that neither the oldest nor the youngest inhabitant has seen on the street at night, or, if he has seen it at all, only infrequently. That is a hearse. Every other kind of conveyance used by modern man is driven about the streets freely after nightfall—the hearse alone comes under the curfew law. Early hours seem to be imposed upon that somber carriage by common consent. The public doesn't like to see it after dark, and coachmen don't like to drive it. No doubt there are hearses that are compelled by the exigencies of funeral arrangements to come home at unseasonable hours, but when forced to an infringement of the unwritten law they proceed through quiet streets where they will be least likely to wound the sensibilities of the superstitious.—New York Herald.

"Dew Ponds."

Among the most singular archaeological remains found in Great Britain are the ancient "dew ponds," the construction of which is ascribed to people of the Neolithic age. The purpose of these ponds was to furnish drinking water for cattle. An exposed position, where springs were absent, was selected, and a broad, hollowed surface was formed and covered over with straw or some other non-conducting material. Above was spread a thick layer of clay strewn with stones. During the night the cold surface of the clay caused an abundance of moisture to condense from the lower layers of the air. Some of these ancient dew ponds are still in working order.

Mixed Feelings.

The little girl who, after a drink of soda, declared that her nose felt as if her foot was asleep has evidently grown up and retained her happy power of expression, for evidently the young lady mentioned in Punch is the same person who drank bubbles when she was small.

The young woman was traveling in a coach as an elderly and somewhat sour looking man, in trying to open the window, pinched his finger nail severely.

"Oh!" exclaimed the lady sympathetically. "How horrid! I always think anything wrong with one's nails sets one's teeth on edge all down one's back!"

Atmosphere.

There is a wide difference of opinion among the learned men of the world as to what would be the effect of wholly removing the atmosphere. Some think that if it were possible to live afterward all the stars, planets, etc., would be visible in broad daylight. Others declare that there would be no day and that the sun itself could not be seen under such conditions.

Mutual.

Mrs. Kratchett—Bridget, I don't like the looks of that man who called to see you last night. Bridget—Well, we didn't it funny, ma'am? He said the same about you.—Philadelphia Ledger.

His Aim.

"What will be your chief aim now you are in congress?" asked the interviewer.

Not Either as Yet.

"Sweetheart or sister?"

"Er—why, she hasn't said which she'll be yet."

Couldn't Lose Her.

Hewitt—I hear that your servant was burned up by kerosene. Jewett—She'll be back. I owed her a week's wages.—New York Press.
